Spring Hill's African Sunset Gerbera Collection

Gerbera Daisy

Bring the Vivid Colors of a South African Sunset to Your Garden, Patio and Vase!

Dear TITLE LASTNAME,

In the sultry Mediterranean climate of the Transvaal, South Africa, you will find an amazing natural world. The scenery is breath-taking and you can hardly believe your eyes as exotic animals like giraffes, buffalo and leopards amble by your land rover.

But for us gardeners, the real treasures of the Transvaal are a bit smaller. Ignore the mountains and look down at your feet. There you will see one of the widest varieties of wild flowers in the world. In fact, many garden perennials we treasure, such as geraniums, calla lilies, and bird of paradise have their roots in this country.

TITLE LASTNAME, we would like to offer you a chance to possess some of the best all-around perennial delights ever to come out of Africa: Gerbera Daisies!

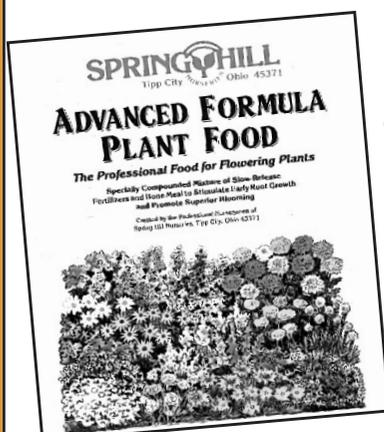

Only now are gerberas (also known as Transvaal or South African daisies) making a splash in the US, and Spring Hill is proud to offer a special selection of top-quality specimens ready for inclusion in the LASTNAME garden. In fact TITLE LASTNAME, our staff loved them so much, we named them our 'Flower of the Year' for 2004. Here's why...

All the Colors of an African Sunset.

Our specially cultivated gerberas come in all the vivid colors of a Transvaal sunset; ruddy red, flame orange, evening sky pink, sunny yellow and cloud white. The large and velvety daisy-like blooms dance above a cushion of soft, lush foliage on thick, sturdy stems. Often the flower form is so perfect and uniform that they may be mistaken for artificial flowers. But these very real and very eye-catching blooms grow with abandon and last all summer long! Each grows to a height of 12-18" with a 12-15" spread. Just look at the enclosed brochure to see these brilliant perennials in all their colorful glory!

So Many Possibilities.

Versatile, easy-to-grow gerberas add new flare to a traditional landscape planting. They're an exciting alternative to standard bedding plants such as marigolds, petunias and salvia. Planted in your garden, they will attract bees and butterflies, but not deer. In planters, window boxes and pots, gerberas provide non-stop color. They're also long-lasting in the vase—professional florists love them for cut-flower arrangements and so will you. Try them for yourself and you will unlock new creative possibilities!

Order Now and Save.

Spring Hill's gerberas normally carry a $5.99 price tag in our catalog. But as a preferred customer, you can take advantage of this special offer to claim all five gerbera color varieties for just $19.99. You save $9.96! Order two collections and save $29.91!

Satisfaction 100% Guaranteed.

You may use your credit card to reserve the collections you want. They will be shipped direct to your home at the proper spring 2004 planting time for your area. Your credit card will not be billed until your plants are shipped. Even after you pay, you take no risk shopping with Spring Hill since everything you order from us is protected by our unprecedented Lifetime Guarantee...
